Dear Mr. Striso,

Wish I had more time for letters. I've spent the entire day on them and am now past the bedtime of most people. It is at almarva that my wife and I won our "championships", mine (barbecue in 1959, hers 1966.

Many strange things have happened and will happen again. Some undoubtedly do not have the significance we might be tempted to read into them. Others---

Wish I knew when I'm to be in NYC again so I could let you know.

I think my sequel, WHITEWASH II: WHO DID IT! may help toward a solution by helping solve what some might consider another crime, the coverup of the assassination. It tells what I think is the essence of this story.

I do have copies scattered while I read the rough draft.

Thanks for your letters and forgive me if my answers are too brief.

You may be interested in another private edition, by Penn Jones, Jr., editor of the Midlothian (Texas) Mirror ($2.95). He has much on the strange deaths. Ramparts has some of his material this month.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
